UNA Town Hall: Campus Vision 2050

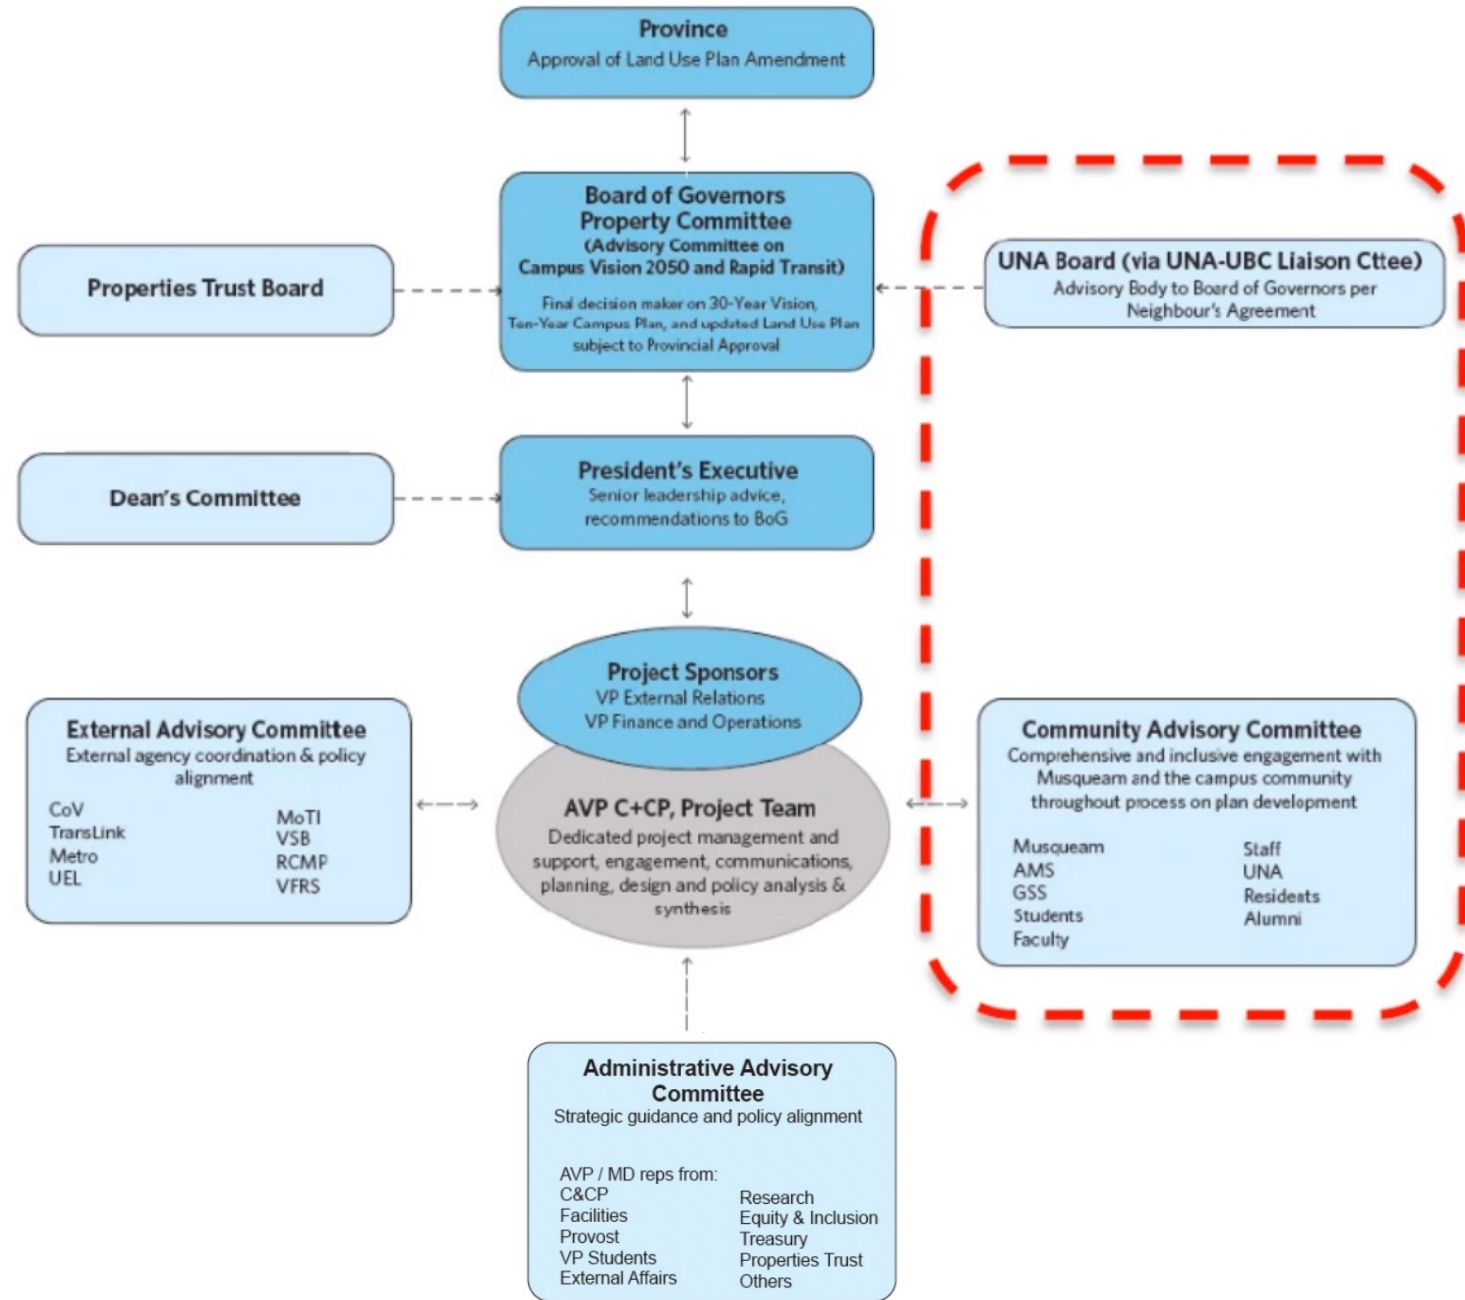

March 3, 2022

Why is this important?

- UBC does its planning on the basis of Land Use Plans approved by the Province approximately every 10 years.
- The last Land Use Plan was approved in 2010 and led to the Neighbourhood Plans that dictate the developments we are seeing today.
- If we want to have a say in what future development in our neighbourhoods look like, we have to get involved NOW.

The UNA's role

- UNA Board provides input to BoG via UNA-UBC Liaison Committee
- UNA Land Use Advisory Committee advises UNA Board

Members of UNA's Land Use Advisory Committee

Murray McCutcheon (Chair, UNA Director)

Richard Watson (UNA Director)

Eagle Glassheim (UNA Director)

Sundance Topham (UNA CAO)

Saad Shoaib (AMS VP External)

Ian Carter

Susan Eadie

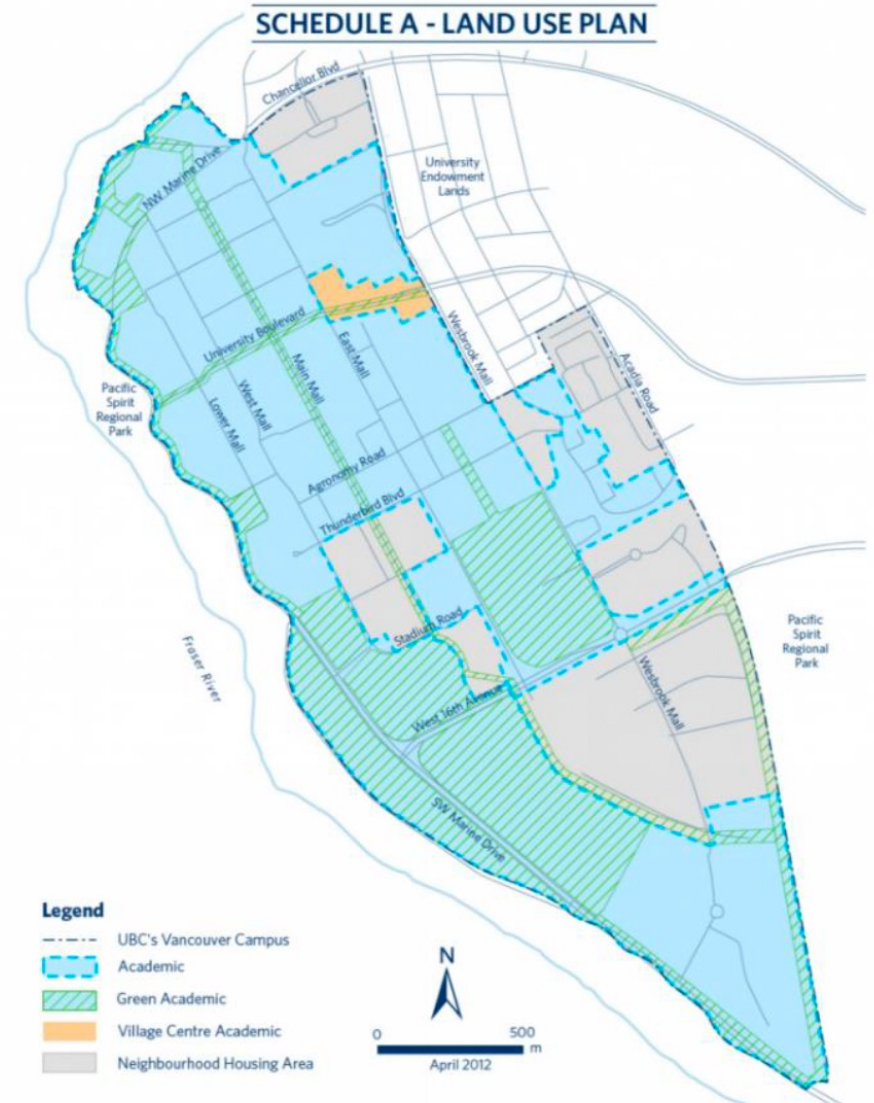

Matthew Mitchell

Alex Volkoff

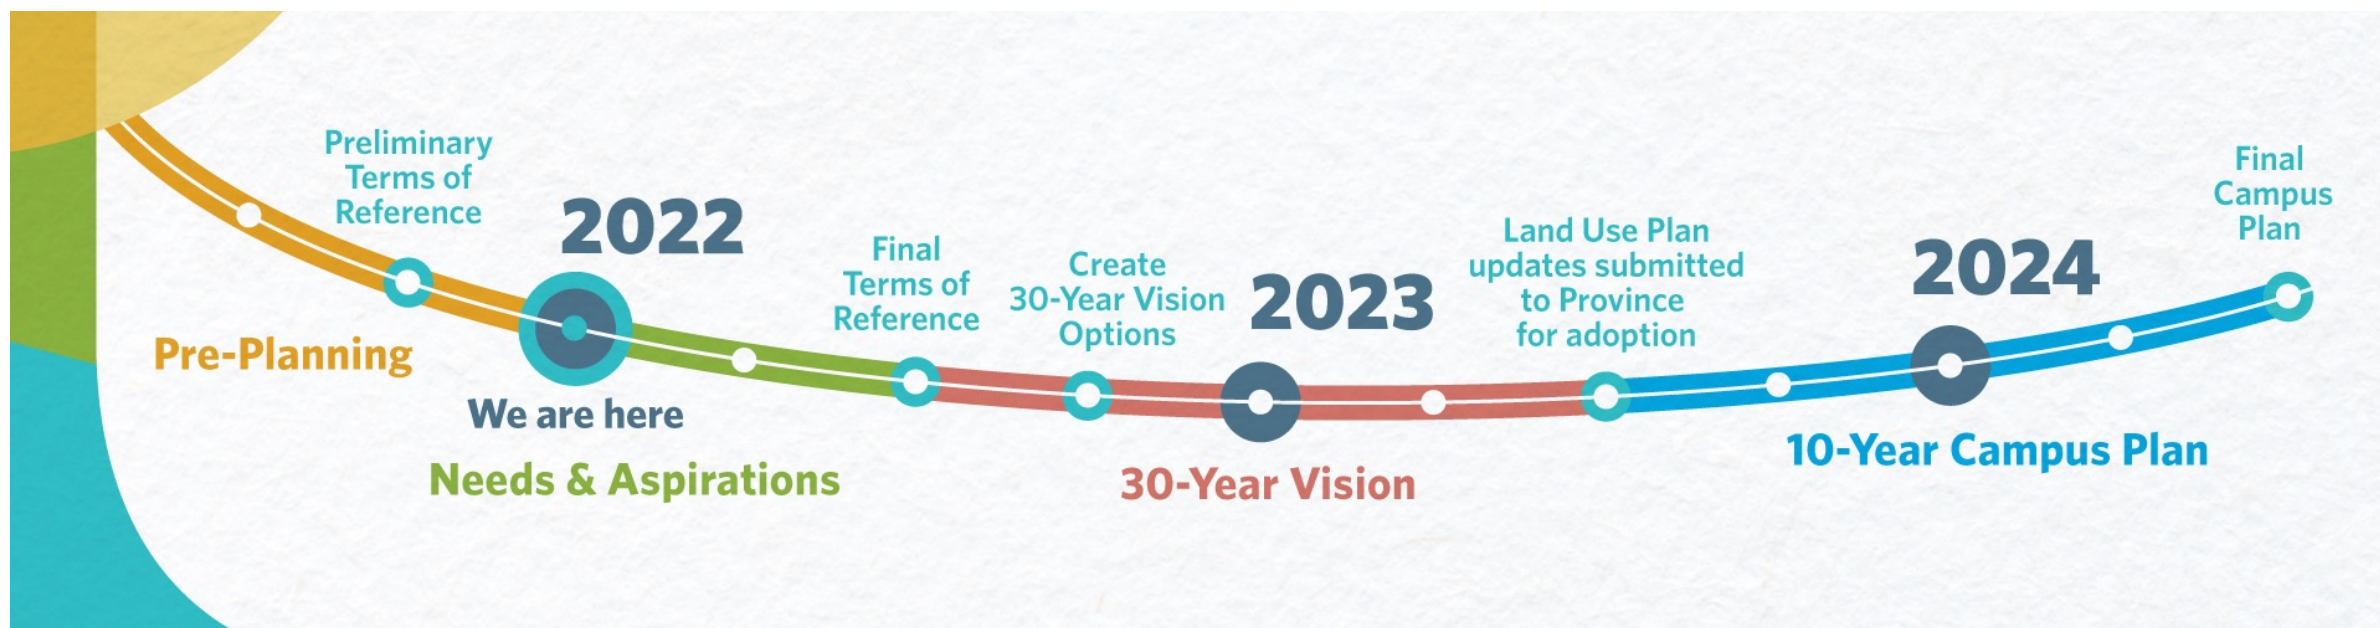

Xia Guangriu (Maggie)

Some of what Campus Vision 2050 will include:

- Spatial layout
- Areas of growth and areas of no growth
- Ecology and sustainability
- Development and density ranges
- Services, amenities and open space
- Coordinating with broader regional planning

Timeline

Three questions for today

1. What do you value about living in the UBC campus neighbourhoods?
What are the key elements that we should work hard to preserve?
2. What do you NOT like about living here? What do you do you hope does NOT happen in the next 10-year Land Use Plan?
3. What would you want UBC to look like in 30 years when you or your children are living here?

Conclusions

- What have we heard today?
- Submit additional feedback to communications@myuna.ca by March 17
- This will inform the UNA Board's feedback on the Terms of Reference
- How can you stay informed?

This will be a long process.
It's important we stay engaged to help shape the future of our community and neighbourhood.
